Ancestry and Descendants of Cornelius and John J. Van Deusen

Isaac Van Deusen, son of Cornelius, settled in Vineland in 1901

COMPILED BY ELENA J. DARLING

In tracing back the ancestry of these brothers we have depended partly upon the "Van Deusen Family" by Capt. Albert H. Van Deusen for the connection between the immigrant ancestor Abraham and Johannes (5) Van Deusen; for the latter's data, the copy of his old family Bible record and the John J. Van Deusen descendants we are indebted to Mrs. I. N. Powell of Chicago, Ill. For the record of the Cornelius Van Deusen branches, we wish to express our thanks to Mrs. Powell, Mrs. F. R. Fortune and all those who in large or small measure helped in its completion, but especially to Mrs. Peter Duryea of Stockbridge, Mass., for a generous interest and unstinted efforts and to Miss Kate Van Dusen, Mrs. Lillie B. Van Zile and Frank Van Deusen, whose memories seldom were at fault and whose patience and willingness never failed.

1. Abraham Pieterson (Van Deursen), the immigrant, was born, in the city of Haarlem, Holland, where he was baptized Nov. 11, 1607, in the Dutch Reformed Church. 7. Cornelius Van Deusen (Jacobus 6, Johannes 5, Tobias 4, Robbert 3, Matthew 2, Abraham 1.) was born about 1788 in Kinderhock, N. Y.; died at Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 17, 1873 in his eighty-sixth year, and was buried in South Laurel Hill Cemetery. He married, Kinderhook, N. Y., March 24, 1811, Maria McCagg born Kinderhook, 1792 and died, LeRoy, N. Y., Sept. 1867; sister of Isaac McCagg of Chicago, Ill., and Matthew McCagg of Warsaw, N. Y.; dau. of —— and Rosanna (——) McCagg.

He served in the War of 1812 as orderly sergeant in Capt Henry Van Vleck's Co., Col. Jacob R. Van Rensselar's 47th Regt. of New York Militia, his period of active service being from Sept. 8, 1812 to Dec. 10, 1812; for this he was given a land grant of eight acres, which was later turned over for sale, to his son Frank. He moved to White Pigeon, Mich., 1836; LeRoy, N. Y., 1840; after the death of his wife, to Troy, N. Y., where he and his daughter Mrs. Fitch made their home until, in 1871, he went to Philadelphia, and she to care for the children of John Van Deusen in Chicago, Ill.

Both he and his wife were admitted to the Kinderhook Church, July, 1821.

Children:—

8. John J. Van Deusen, (Jacobus 6, Johannes 5, Tobias 4, Robbert 3, Matthew 2, Abraham 1.) was born in Kinderhook, N. Y., Dec. 24, 1801 and died Jan. 12, 1880 at Lexington, Ind. He married, Oct. 12, 1837, Maria Vosburgh, daughter of ——— Vosburgh and ——— McLean, born June 10, 1812, Kinderhook, (?); d. Feb. 4, 1860 at Lexington, Ind., where both she and her husband are buried.

He was a farmer at Kinderhook; from there he moved to LeRoy, Troy and Batavia, N. Y., finally seeking the west hoping to find a more suitable climate for his wife who had been an invalid for some years. He eventually located upon a farm at Lexington, Ind., the then county-seat of Scott Co., where he spent the remainder of his life. After his death the farm became part of the William English estate, and can be partially traced by its fine old beech trees.

Children:—

15. i. Roxanna Emma, b. Kinderhook, Feb. 8, 1840; d. Lexington, Ind., Aug. 2, 1893.

16. ii. Margaret Anna, b. Kinderhook or LeRoy, N. Y., July 10, 1844; d. May 10, 1911, Kansas City, Mo.

Married, Cincinnati, O., on May 8, 1845, Sophia Smith, daughter of Benjamin and Nancy (Horton) Smith, born Cincinnati, Dec. 29, 1819; died, Richmond, Ind., Dec. 1, 1900 and was buried in Earlham Cemetery.

When in 1836 his father's family left the Kinderhook farm for White Pigeon, Mich., he moved to Cincinnati, where he was employed by an Ohio river steamboat company, following this business for nine years with different companies along the Ohio and Mississippi. In 1845 he became ticket agent for the "Little Miami" railroad at Cincinnati, was promoted to the office of general ticket and freight agent for the company, and in 1862 was sent to Richmond, Ind., as manager of their line known as the "Dayton & Western." At the end of five years he returned to Cincinnati where he was with the company until honorably retired in 1880.

At nearly 98 years of age his hearing was but little impaired and his eyesight as keen as that of one many years his junior. He was known as Richmond's "Grand Old Man."

Children:—

17. i. Frank, b. Cincinnati, O., Feb. 12, 1846; d. Pittsburgh, Pa., March 4, 1907.

13. Isaac Van Deusen, M. D., (Cornelius 7, Jacobus 6, Johannes 5, Tobias 4, Robbert 3, Matthew 2, Abraham 1.) was born in the old home at Valatie, Columbia Co., N. Y., Nov. 7, 1829; died, Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 9, 1918. He settled in Troy, N. Y., in 1853, where he remained until, in 1860, he removed to Philadelphia. In 1901 he located in Vineland on the S. W. corner of Main and Forest Grove Road, but a year or two later bought a property on Park Avenue just east of the Paul Van Deusen place, eventually returning to Philadelphia about 1912.

He was a merchant until 1884 when he graduated from a Chicago medical college. He subsequently was directly or indirectly connected with the practice of medicine although he never established a private practice, being physician for a mining company in Duluth, Minn.; physician for one of the Philadelphia boards of charity and associated with Mead, Johnson & Co., Jersey City, N. J.

He became a Mason when twenty-one years old and continued his active interest until his death. He was a Past Master, a Past High Priest and the historian of his lodge.

He married in Troy, N. Y., ——— 1858, Josephine Hicks, born New York City, June, 1835; died Philadelphia, Pa., Dec. 24, 1921. In 1873 she graduated from the Woman's Medical College of Philadelphia, in which city she practiced successfully for many years. She was the daughter of Catherine (Van Norden) and Charles Hicks who was the inventor of the first percussion caps, the machine for making them and the powder with which they were charged; also, at the time of his death had practically perfected the Hick's Centrifugal Dynamite Gun.

Children:

21. i. Edwin Hicks, b. Troy, N. Y., March 12, 1860
22. ii. Winfield, .b Philadelphia, Pa., Mch. 14, 1861; d. Philadelphia, May 4, 1902
23. iii. Isaac, b. Philadelphia, Apr. 27, 1865.
iv. Paul, b. Philadelphia, Mch. 20, 1875. He graduated in chemistry at the University of Pennsylvania and was chemist for the Atlantic Refining Co., for a number of years until at the age of twenty-three, in company with his brother Isaac, he went prospecting in Wyoming where he was blinded by dynamite two or three years later; returning East he married at Woodbury, N. J., March 26, 1901, Lavinia Pearce, born at Bolton, Lancashire, England, Feb. 2, 1864, daughter of James and Elizabeth (Smith) Pearce.

He came to Vineland in 1901 and started in the poultry business on Park Avenue, near East, "his wife standing by." They now, (1927) have some 2000 laying birds, White Leghorns, on their seventeen acre farm at Franklinville, N. J. No children.

14. Frank Van Deusen, (Cornelius 7, Jacobus 6, Johannes 5, Tobias 4, Robbert 3, Matthew 2, Abraham 1.) was born in Stamford, N. Y., Dec. 4, 1832; he was named Franklin Otis but disliking it discarded the name and used the one by which he was baptized. He married in Ithaca, N. Y., Feb. 5, 1855, Helen Briggs Hazen of Adams, Mass., born Oct. 5, 1834; died Troy, N. Y., April 13, 1923, daughter of the Rev. Wright and Elizabeth (Wright) Hazen.

From 1861 to 1917 he conducted a laundry business in Troy, N. Y., "a pioneer in the laundry world." Beginning with fifteen women hand workers, the business in 1917 had five depots and employed over three hundred men and women.

He never did any family laundering, all of the work being from the collar factories. These in time established their own laundries and the practice of sending the work outside was eventually discontinued. Some time after 1917, he joined the staff of the American Collar Co., as manager of its laundry for two years, when he joined another firm until he retired from business in 1921.

NOTE

For those who are interested in the history of the Van Deusen family in Holland, and have not the advantage of Captain Albert Harrison Van Deusen's "Van Deusen Family" we have taken from it the following information:—

In 1196 during the time of the third crusade, mention is made of a Hendricus a van Doersen. It is very possible he was a crusader and the cross in the coat of arms was taken up by him.

In 1325 Govert Van Doorsen acknowledged Jan III of Brabant as his liege-lord and received back his ancestral property as a hereditary feudality, it remaining in the straight male line until the end of the 16th century.

In 1419 Jan Van Deursen, possibly grandson or great grandson of Govert, married Aleid van Bloemensweerde and from his time there is no break in the family line.

Jan, son of the above, married Aleid van Dompselaer; their son

Jan, married Wilhelmina van Zoudenbalg; their son

Nicholas, married Machteld Proeys; their son

Jan Willem, married a daughter of Gerritt van Heusden; their son

Jan, married Elisabeth Van Heusden, and was alive in 1550 being the last male in descent from Govert to hold the lands and castles of Duersen.

He added the famous "wheel of Heusden" to the coat of arms which was dropped by his son.

Hendrick, who married Maria Rutgers. He was probably the first protestant of the family. The trouble with Spain bringing about the loss of his ancestral possessions. His son

Willem, married Elisabeth Gysberts; their son

Pieter was magistrate in Haerlem, in 1583; his son

Abraham Pieterson, emigrated to New Amsterdam, before 1636 and was the American ancestor.
